FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ACEHOPPER REVS UP FOR NEXT PHASE OF ACCELERATED GROWTH WITH NEW APPS, WEBSITE AND MARKET FOCUS

Acehopper is the Destination of Choice for Exploring the Largest Selection of Festivals, Sports Events, Concerts, Shows and Attractions in Cities Around the World.

CHICAGO, Illinois—March 24, 2015—Today, Acehopper for iPhone, iPad and Android devices unveiled its new product features and website. With beautiful pictures and a seamless interface, the app makes it easy to purchase tickets for events and attractions, check out neighborhoods, get up-to-the-minute public transit times, buy parking passes and more. Due to its sleek, new design and simple interface, making it easy to discover places and find points of interest without the hassle of multiple guides and maps, there has been a surge in app installs and people signing up as registered Acehopper users.

More convenient than ever before, Acehopper pushes the limits of current mobile technology with state-of-the-art location services powered by Liberty Media's Skyhook Wireless, instant notifications and alerts, powerful maps, effortless ticketing, robust images, reliable data, seamless filters and dynamic search tools. In short, Acehopper is the obvious partner for attractions, festivals, property managers and merchants to reach audiences and customers anywhere, instantly. Acehopper makes it possible for these businesses to connect with people before, during and after they arrive at the location, thereby raising consumer awareness and stimulating demand, which in turn leads to more revenues and enhanced profitability.

"Acehopper's a platform for people to find out what's going on when it counts the most—while it's happening—and our business customers understand this," noted Nathan Poeppelman, Co-Founder of Acehopper.

Acehopper is built with specific audiences in mind. One such group is the sky-rocketing Airbnb community with over ten million nights booked across 800,000+ listings in 33,000 cities and 192 countries. For this reason, the company is piloting a program with Airbnb hosts as a method for making recommendations of places to visit for their guests. To date, hosts across America have teamed up with Acehopper, introducing the app to countless Airbnb travelers, representing a wide spectrum of people from practically every continent on earth.

Gashaw Ayalew, Airbnb Superhost stated, "I tell all of the people that I host to download Acehopper because everything's there, saving me time given my busy work schedule to ensure a wonderful guest experience."

Of course, the Acehopper team invites developers to integrate the APIs and other free tools into their applications. As the company grows, it is envisioned that Acehopper will be deployed on mobile devices in exciting ways. Supported by a highly-motivated staff of engineers, designers, marketers and all-around business people, 2015 is just the beginning. Expect to see Acehopper more widespread as it makes its mark with both consumers and businesses, keeping pace with the newest innovations and latest technology, rivaling anything commercially available on the marketplace.
